CREDIT TRANSFER SYSTEM AND SHAALA DARPAN FOR SCHOOL EDUCATION

New Delhi, December 03rd, 2014

The Government has launched Credit Framework on 11th November, 2014 for Skill and Education under National Skill Qualification Framework (NSQF) for providing skills to the youth as per the present requirement of employment. NSQF provides an opportunity to students for multipoint exit and entrance. Any student enrolled under framework may exit at any level, can go to the job market and can join back the framework after any gap of time.

Shaala Darpan, which is the name given to the e-governance Mission Mode Project in School Education, is being implemented in a Pilot mode in 4 (four) States, Phase I of which consists of parent related and school related mobile enabled delivery of services including school attendance.

This information was given by the Union Human Resource Development Minister, Smt. Smriti Irani in a written reply to the Lok Sabha question.
